WORDS OF WELCOME & TEPSA RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE FRENCH PRESIDENCY

Amphitheater Simone Veil, 28 Rue des Saints-Pères

FLORENCE HAEGEL
SCIENCES PO

Florence Haegel is a professor of political science at Sciences Po. Former head of the Department of Political Science, she has directed the Centre for European Studies and Comparative Politics since January 2017. She is a member of the MaxPo Joint Council since September 2019 as well as of the editorial board of the Revue Française de Science Politique and of the Board of Directors of the Association Française de Science Politique (AFSP). Her research projects focus on political parties, politicization processes-political socialization and participation, specifically on the French partisan right. She approaches issues of politicisation from different angles and has been interested in the process of political socialisation, as well as in the analysis of political discussions. She is currently working on the participation of people in precarious situations in the associative framework (PICRI project "Précarité, Participation, Politique").

WORDS OF WELCOME:

Jim Cloos is a high-ranking European official of longstanding esteem. Having taken on a key role in drafting the Maastricht Treaty during the Luxembourgish Presidency of the Council of the European Union in 1991, Mr. Cloos has an intricate expertise on EU Affairs and the internal functioning of the European institutions. In the 1990s he served at the European Commission, first as Head of the Cabinet of the Commissioner for Agriculture, and subsequently as Head of Cabinet to the President of the European Commission and his G7/8 Sherpa. Mr. Cloos has been a close collaborator of High Representative Javier Solana in shaping the EU's Common Foreign and Security Policy. For many years he played a key role in preparing European Council meetings. Before his election as TEPSA Secretary-General, he served as Deputy Director General for General and Institutional Policy at the General Secretariat of the Council of the European Union.

TEPSA RECOMMENDATIONS

MODERATED BY:

NATASHA WUNSCH,
SCIENCES PO, CEE
& TEPsA

Natasha Wunsch is currently Assistant Professor in Political Science/European Integration at Sciences Po, attached to the Centre for European Studies and Comparative Politics (CEE). She is also a senior researcher at ETH Zürich and a member of the Balkans in Europe Policy Advisory Group. In addition, she leads the project "Democratic Regression in Eastern Europe: Sequences, Strategies, Citizens", funded from 2019-2023 by the Swiss National Science Foundation (SNSF) at ETH Zürich. Her research lies at the intersection of European studies and comparative politics. Natasha Wunsch is particularly interested in how European integration influences political transformation in accession countries and, conversely, how democratic regression and illiberal tendencies within some member states impact cooperation at the European level.

REPRESENTATIVE OF THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT

Davis Cvach is currently the Director of EU Affairs at the central administration of the French Ministry of European and Foreign Affairs. Formerly French ambassador to Sweden, he was also advisor on North Africa and the Middle East to the President of the Republic, and deputy Director of the Centre for Analysis, Forecasting and Strategy, Deputy Head of Policy Planning at the Ministry of Europe and Foreign Affairs. He is a graduate of Sciences-Po Paris and an alumnus of the ENA (École Nationale d'Administration).

Olivier Rozenberg is Associate Professor at Sciences Po within the Centre for European Studies and Comparative Politics. He specialised in legislative studies (parliamentary institutions, legislators' behaviour, comparative studies), European studies (EU institutions, France in Europe) and, between both area, in the role of parliaments in the governance of the EU. He has published a monography on the European Union and the French Parliament (in French: Sciences Po, 2018; in English: Palgrave: forthcoming). He has co-edited a number of collective books, including Parliamentary Roles in Modern Legislatures (with Magnus Blomgren, Routledge, 2012) and The Roles and Function of Parliamentary Questions (with Shane Martin, Routledge, 2012). He is also co-editor of the Palgrave Handbook on National Parliaments and the European Union (2015) and of the Traité d'études parlementaires (Larcier, 2018). He is scientific advisor for the Master in European Affairs of Sciences Po School of Public Affairs. He is member of the editorial board of the Journal of Legislative Studies and Parliamentary Affairs. He has collaborated with the European Parliament on various topics.
