

SÉMINAIRE GÉNÉRAL DU CENTRE D'ÉTUDES EUROPÉENNES

Europe's Role in Neoliberalization, Americanization, and Globalization: The Case of Neoclassical Economics

Speaker

Johanna Bockman (George Mason University)

Johanna Bockman is an associate professor of sociology and global affairs at George Mason University. Her research focuses on globalization, neoliberalism, economic sociology, socialism and postsocialism. She is now working on the New International Economic Order (NIEO) and the UN Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), the 1980s debt crisis, and Yugoslav economic advising in South America, as part of a broader project on the socialist origins of today's economic globalization.

Discussion

Jenny Andersson (Sciences Po, CEE, CNRS)

Jenny Andersson's main research interests focus on the knowledge economy as idea; Social Democracy and the Third Way; The Swedish Model as utopia; A political history of the future. She has published several works on the transformations on social democracy in the post war period. She has also written a number of articles on topics such as the political economy of the knowledge economy, the cultural images of Sweden and the Swedish model, and the origins of futures studies. Her latest publication is "The Great Future Debate and the Struggle for the World", The American Historical Review, 117(5), 2012.

Filip Kostelka (Sciences Po, CEE)

Filip Kostelka fields of research focus on postcommunism, electoral sociology, party systems and quantitative methods. He is preparing a thesis entitled "Electoral Participation in the Post-Communist Member States of the European Union" under the supervision of Nonna Mayer (Sciences Po, CEE, CNRS).

Tuesday
24 September
2013
12.30 – 2.30 pm

Sciences Po
Room Jean Monnet
56, rue Jacob
75006 Paris

