She was a Jean Monnet Fellow at the European University Institute in the Global Governance Program and a visiting researcher at Columbia University and Peking University as a member of the Global Public Policy Network. Her main research interests focus on state compliance; regional tier of governance; game theory; European Union; international law; economic policies and human rights.

Discussion

Olivier Rozenberg (Sciences Po, CEE)

Olivier Rozenberg's research focuses on the study of political institutions and particularly of legislatures in Europe - national parliaments as well as the European Parliament. Within this framework, he studies both the sociology of legislators and the policy analysis of parliamentary activities. He is also interested in the Europeanisation of national political systems. He has recently edited with Claire De Galember and Cécile Vigour Faire parler le Parlement. Méthodes et enjeux de l'analyse des débats parlementaires pour les sciences sociales, Paris, LGDJ.

Angela Tacea (Sciences Po, CEE)

Angela Tacea's research focuses on the activity of national parliaments in regards to the European Justice and Home Affairs Policy, especially borders control and free movement of persons. She is preparing a thesis entitled "Freedom or Security? The role of national parliaments in the Area of Freedom, Security and Justice. The French, British, Italian and Romanian parliaments' experience" under the supervision of Renaud Dehousse.
