Test Design with Unobservable Falsification

Eduardo Perez-Richet and Vasiliki Skreta

Abstract:
We study receiver-optimal test design under manipulations by an agent who can falsify the data input of the test. We characterize an optimal test and an optimal falsification proof test under different assumptions on the cost function, and discuss the welfare properties of such tests.