

Dual BA Direct Program Berkeley-Sciences Po

The College of Letters & Science

- ✓ The largest of Berkeley's 14 colleges and schools
- ✓ Encompasses more than half of the entire campus's faculty, $\frac{3}{4}$ of its undergraduate students (16,000), half of its Ph.D. candidates
- ✓ Includes 80 departmental majors in the social sciences, arts and humanities, biological sciences, and physical sciences
- ✓ Boasts 15 of the 22 Nobel Prizes on the campus, including four current faculty members

Junior and Senior Years at Berkeley

Berkeley Degree Requirements

- ✓ Students must successfully complete 120 units of course work and satisfy all requirements of the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) degree. The course requirements are designed to ensure that you acquire the background and breadth you need for further learning and that you explore one subject in depth: your major.
- ✓ There are requirements at the university, campus, college, and major levels.
- ✓ Requirements will be fulfilled in part through course work completed during your two years at Sciences Po, but additional courses may be required.

Academics

Majors

The following majors at UC Berkeley are available to students who are in the Dual Degree Program:

- Economics*
- Environmental Economics and Policy*
- Ethnic Studies
- Gender and Women's Studies
- Global Studies
- History
- Legal Studies
- Philosophy
- Political Economy*
- Political Science
- Sociology

(* Economics, Environmental Economics and Policy, and Political Economy majors have a GPA cap that students must meet their first semester at Berkeley).

In addition, dual degree students may select a major that builds on the specific strengths of the individual Sciences Po campus they attend. For example:

Students from Le Havre might choose:

- East Asian Languages and Cultures

Students from Menton might additionally opt for:

- Near Eastern Languages and Literatures

Students who attend Reims might select:

- African American Studies

Additional majors may also be possible, but require additional coursework at UC Berkeley taken outside of the regular program.

Services and Campus Life

Advising and Housing

- ✓ The College of Letters and Science will appoint advisors to assist students in their transition to undergraduate life at Berkeley and to provide advising on curricular planning throughout the program
- ✓ Dual BA Direct students will be guaranteed housing while enrolled at Berkeley.

Financing Your Education

Tuition and Fees

Final Two Years at Berkeley

- Dual BA Direct Program students will pay the Berkeley rate for tuition and fees.
- The total cost of attending Berkeley for the two-year Direct Program is approximately $150 000. Total cost will vary based on housing. For more information, see <http://financialaid.berkeley.edu/cost-attendance>
- Neither Sciences Po nor Berkeley guarantees financial aid.
- Students are responsible for paying all expenses related to this program.
- It is therefore important to determine your ability to pay, before you apply to the program.
