

Scholarships for Indian Master's and PhD students at Sciences Po

- This is a non-exhaustive list of scholarships available to Indian Master's and PhD students.
- Unless we mention that the scholarship is reserved to exchange students, the schemes are dedicated to degree seeking students.
- Some of these scholarships have deadlines as early as November or December. Generally speaking, the earlier you apply the better given that some scholarships are awarded on a rolling basis.
- This document has been updated in September 2020.

Best of luck to all!

Other scholarships from external organizations

There are also a number of scholarships or interest-free loans open to Indian students which you may look into. All the scholarship applications listed here have to be made separately from your Sciences Po application. These funds are run by external organizations and Sciences Po is not involved in the selection procedure.

An excellent list published on the list of the Aga Khan Foundation is available here:

<https://www.akdn.org/our-agencies/aga-khan-foundation/scholarship/scholarships-links>

1. Aga Khan Foundation

The Aga Khan Foundation provides a limited number of scholarships each year for postgraduate studies to outstanding students from select developing countries who have no other means of financing their studies, in order to develop effective scholars and leaders and to prepare them for employment, primarily within the AKDN. Scholarships are awarded on a 50% grant/50% loan basis through a competitive application process once a year in June or July.

The Foundation gives priority to requests for Master's level courses but is willing to consider applications for PhD programmes, only in the case of outstanding students who are highly recommended for doctoral studies by their professors and who need a PhD for the fulfilment of their career objectives (academic or research oriented)
