LIEPP, May 12, 2023

The LIEPP Environmental policies research group : objectives

- 4 main objectives
 - Examines the role of public policies in the field of environment in the broadest sense.
 - Develop research in the fields of sustainable development, climate change, green growth and, more recently, energy and ecological transitions.
 - Make sense of the transition dynamics at work and to shed light on choices made by policy-makers and actors.
 - Reach out to major public organizations in France, the EU (and beyond)
- Interdisciplinary approach – to combine theoretical approaches and investigation methods from social sciences (political science, economics, sociology), natural sciences, and life sciences.
- Policy evaluation research content and methods
 - The production of data, expertise and knowledge across multiple levels of governance
 - Diversified toolbox (law, taxation, incentives, etc.);
 - the functioning of multiple organisations (public, private, civil society) that contribute to environmental regulation
 - disjointed temporalities and uncertainties;
 - strong permeability to context effects.
