Who we are

The Centre for Research on social Inequalities (CRIS) is a joint Sciences Po / CNRS research centre.

Its members are attached to the Sciences Po's Sociology Department, and the Department of Economics for their teaching. They may be affiliated with other research centres or programs such as LIEPP, Presage, MiDi, Axpo, Aire, Cities are back in Town...

CRIS is devoted to research that covers the multidimensionality of social inequality in contemporary societies. CRIS' research program seeks to describe patterns and trends of inequality, analyze their mechanisms and inform and contribute to policy analysis in a world where inequality has become a major threat.

The center has a strong tradition of comparative sociology highlighting the role of welfare state policies, institutional mechanisms and national narratives related to inequality.

Sciences Po-CRIS is committed to theory-driven empirical research, drawing on a diversity of methods (qualitative, quantitative, experimental, etc.), adopting micro, meso and macro perspectives, and promoting interdisciplinary approaches for an integrated research on inequality in social sciences.

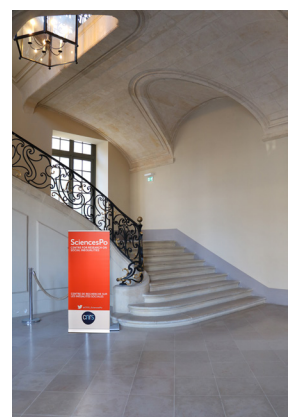

CRIS faculty members are international experts in the study of different facets of inequality such as education, gender, family, life course, labor market and economic inequality, social mobility, urban segregation, migration, ethnoracial minorities, cultural inequality and digital inequality. The research agenda is also engaged in enhancing new perspectives in inequality studies such as environmental inequality and health inequality.

The Director of the CRIS is Carlo Barone, Professor at Sciences Po, since September 1st, 2024.

Postdoc Researchers

Maricia Fischer-Souan

Maricia Fischer-Souan is a Marie Skłodowska-Curie Fellow (2021-2024). Her post-doctoral project, Imagine - Mapping Immigrant Imaginations: Comparing North Africans in Montréal and Marseille - focuses on the spatial dynamics of immigrant identity formation and is supervised by Ettore Recchi. Co-hosting with the Centre for International Studies and Research - CÉRIUM, Université de Montréal.

Isabelle Langrock

She is involved in the ACTIVEINFO PROJECT - Class, Community, and Context in the Diffusion of Disinformation in the Digital Era Project (ANR grant) headed by Jen Schradie.

Research Assistants

Every year CRIS recruits several research assistants to work with researchers on projects funded for varying lengths of time. They participate in the activities of the Centre.

Emeritus

Alain Chenu

career advancement in high education, history of quantitative sociology & statistics, sociology of celebrity

Marie Duru-Bellat

education, educational policies, gender inequalities

Hugues Lagrange

socialization, identity, social cohesion, modernity, genetic

Edmond Préteceille

urban inequalities, spatial segregation, middle class

Practical Information

WORK PLACES

The CRIS PhD students have their open space, with many desks, located on the B aisle.

An other open space, aisle A, is dedicated to visitings (academics and students), postdocs and research assistants. Note that Emeritus have also open spaces located in the C aisle.

In case of specific need (e.g. quiet moment for a Zoom presentation), most desks can be used if they are free. Please ask to the staff.

WORKSTATIONS

Workstations equipped with a desktop computer are available for CRIS visitors.

INTERNET ACCESS

There are two options for Internet access: Connect your personal laptop using an internet cable for direct access or use Sciences Po's Wi-Fi network, available in most areas.

In both cases, please use your personal login and password (email account) to access Sciences Po's network. For your first connection: Login: TBA | Password: TBA

Be informed that your access to your Sciences Po email and all linked resources will be deactivated at the end of your stay. Please make sure that you have transferred all important messages and contacts to your usual email address.

PRINTING AND SCANNING

You can directly use the photocopiers for copies and scans, or you can save your documents on a USB stick and then print them out or send them via email. Photocopiers can only be used with your badge.

The color photocopier is located in the LIEPP area (C Aisle), the B&W one is in the CRIS area. (A Aisle)

SEMINAR & MEETINGS

- The Centre's team is pleased to invite all its members to Friday's weekly seminar of the Centre. It is an opportunity for everyone to enjoy discussion with the CRIS's core members and visitors. All events are announced via email invitations and CRIS website.
<https://www.sciencespo.fr/osc/fr/content/seminaire-scientifique-de-losc.html>
- The Doctoral workshops serie is coordinated by Zachary Van Winkle and Allison Rovny. Around 6/7 sessions per semester. The aim of the workshop is to guide current PhD candidates through their initial years of doctoral training by providing institutional information, advice for PhD and post-PhD professional life, exercises in academic writing and publishing, conference and job presentations, and more.

- Meeting room: A meeting room can be reserved (on LIEPP area) for any work meeting, mock interview preparation and meeting with a colleague. Contact: sylvie.lesur@sciencespo.fr

MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

Small supplies are freely available on request.

MAIL

A box reserved for visitors is available in the CRIS's mailroom to receive any correspondence.

For outgoing mail: Use the "courrier au départ" box; use the internal mail envelopes for Sciences Po mail. External mail must include the name of the sending unit (CRIS stamp available onsite) and the name of the sender.

All of your postal mail must be addressed to: Fondation Nationale des Sciences Politiques, Centre for Research on Social Inequalities (CRIS), Your name, 1 place Saint-Thomas d'Aquin 75007 Paris Cedex 07
