

GIACOMO PARRINELLO

---

Giacomo Parrinello is an Assistant Professor of Environmental History at the Center for History at Sciences Po. He is interested in the environmental implications of state building and economic growth in modern and contemporary Europe and in the history of environmental management of geological processes. He has published on the history of disasters, urban environments, river systems, and coastal geomorphological processes in the Anthropocene. He is the PI of the project Shifting Shores: An Environmental History of Morphological Changes in Mediterranean River Deltas over the Twentieth Century. Personal website: www.giacomoparrinello.net